

Year 1 Science

Our topic this half term is looking at the human body and in particular, our FIVE senses!

In our first Science lesson, we looked at the different parts of the body. We used our team work skills to draw around our friend and then label as many parts of the body as we could. Here is a picture of us in action and our final creation!

This is one of the many final pieces of IM's work.

We explored the individual senses over a period of lessons. The first sense we explored was our sense of 'taste'. Children tasted different flavoured crisps and had to try to identify the correct flavour.

To explore our sense of 'sound', we went on a sound walk around the school to identify the different noises we could hear.

For our sense of 'touch', we touched a range of different objects, predicting how we thought it might have felt. After touching the objects, we then recorded our observations.
